

Bul Tea Na

There have been many attempts to make new beer and we've been struggling to make a new Pale Ale and we needed something new to get out of the ordinary. The idea that came to mind was a new style of Pale Ale, a combination of beer and black tea.

We had to find a way to add black tea. There's a way to drink tea in hot water, but to make it softer and more comfortable, people make milk tea with milk and sugar.

and based on this, we decided to add black tea to beer in the form of milk tea.

Soak black tea in boiling wort for 10 minutes to make black tea, and add lactose to make beer and black tea blend smoothly. Since then, we added lemon zest during dry hopping to little refreshing.

The results were amazing. This new beer that we've made is balanced against any of the two beverages, beer and tea, creating a new style of soft, sweet, and refreshing beer.

When you first feel the aroma, you can feel the aroma of lemon and earl grey, and the aroma of hops, and when you taste it, the taste of black tea and hops are harmonized.

We decided to call this new beer tea latte beer, and we're making a new tea latte beer by changing the tea leaves that go in every time.